

Stitching Women's Lives

An Exhibition and Sale of Sujuni Textiles from Bihar, India

August 3rd–17th, 2008 1.30–5pm (closed Mondays)
at Belmont Mill & Studios, Belmont, Co. Offaly

ADMISSION FREE

SUJUNI is the word that Bihari women use for a running-stitch embroidery on layered cloth, made as a quilt to give to family members on the occasion of weddings or births. Women traditionally made Sujuni in their homes, layering worn-out old saris and stitching them with coloured threads; embroidering into them scenes from their village life.

Further Information: Sandy Lloyd 090 6457598
www.belmontmill.com

